MARK TWAIN PASSES AWAY

Famous Humorist Dies at Redding, Conn.

VICTIM OF ANGINA PECTORIS

Sedatives Soothed His Pain During the Last Moments of His Life and He Did Not Die in Anguish—Daughter, Son-in-Law, Two Physicians, Two Trained Nurses and Albert Bigelow Paine the Only Persons at the Deathbed.

Redding, Conn., April 22.—Samuel Langhorne Clemens ("Mark Twain") died peacefully of angina pectoris. He lapsed into coma at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and never recovered consciousness. It was the end of a man outworn by grief and acute agony of body.

Wednesday was a bad day for the little knot of anxious watchers at the bedside. For long hours the gray, aquiline features lay molded in the inertia of death, while the pulse sank lower and lower, but late at night Mark Twain passed from stupor into the first natural sleep he had known since he returned from Bermuda and in the morning he awoke refreshed, even faintly cheerful, and in full possession of all his faculties.

He recognized his daughter Clara, Mrs. Ossip Gabrilovitch, spoke a rational word or two and, feeling himself unequal to conversation, wrote out in pencil: "Give me my glasses."

They were his last words. Laying them aside he sank first into reverie and later into final unconsciousness.

There was no thought at the time, however, that the end was so near. At 5 o'clock Dr. Robert Halsey, who had been continuously in attendance, said:

"Mr. Clemens is not so strong at this hour as he was at the corresponding hour Wednesday, but he has wonderful vitality and he may rally again."

Nevertheless Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Loomis, who had come up from New York to give their love in person, left Stormfield, Mr. Clemens' house, without seeing him, and only heard of his death just as they were taking the train to New York again. Mrs. Loomis was Mr. Clemens' favorite niece, and Mr. Loomis is vice president of the Lackawanna railroad. Similarly Jarvis Landon, a nephew, who had run up for the day, left even earlier and wholly uninformed.

At the deathbed were only Mrs. Gabrilovitch, her husband, Ossip Gabrilovitch, Dr. Robert Halsey, Dr. Quintard, Albert Bigelow Paine, who will write Mark Twain's biography, and the two trained nurses. Restoratives—digitalis, strychnine and camphor—were administered, but the patient failed to respond.

A tank of oxygen still stands uncalled for at Redding station. Oxygen was tried and the physicians explained that it was of no value because the valvular action of the heart was not disordered. There was only an extreme and increasing debility, accompanied by labored respiration.

Angina pectoris is a paroxysmal affection of the chest of baffling and obscure origin, characterized by severe pain, faintness and deep depression of the spirits. The pain is of an oppressive, crushing or stabbing character. The attacks progress in frequency and severity with uncertain intermissions, sometimes of long duration, to a fatal termination.

Did Not Die in Anguish.

Mark Twain did not die in anguish. Sedatives soothed his pain, but in his moments of consciousness the mental depression persisted. On his way from Bermuda he said to Albert Bigelow Paine, who had been his constant companion in illness:

"This is a bad job; we'll never pull through with it."

On shore once more and longing for the serenity of the New England hills he took heart and said to those who noted his enfeeblement in sorrow:

"Give me a breath of Redding air once more and this will pass," but it did not pass and, tired of body and weary of spirit, the old warrior against shams and snobs said faintly to his nurses:

"Why do you fight to keep me alive? Two days of life are as good to me as two."

Mr. Clemens first saw the light in the little town of Florida, Mo., Nov. 30, 1835.

His boyhood was not unlike that of Tom Sawyer, the character he created to become the hero of other American boys for generations to follow. Young Clemens received but a scanty school education; in fact, it is suspected that Mark Twain and Tom Sawyer were one.

Samuel L. Clemens was a man who saw only the best in life; he ever refused to see anything else.

In grinding poverty, in affluence, surrounded by a happy family, or standing at the bier of a loved one, Mark Twain never gave up to despair. Few among us have known grief as bitter as he. Few men still have contributed as much to the joy of the world.

Frontier reporter, miner, steamboat pilot, captain of finance, bankrupt, successful author, no matter what his station in life for the moment, Mark Twain was always the same genial friend and companion.

The burial will be in the family plot at Elmira, N. Y., where he already has his wife, his two daughters, Susan and Jean, and his infant son Langhorne. No date has yet been set.

FACTIONAL STRIFE RAGES

Daughters of the Revolution Enmeshed in Parliamentary Entanglement.

Washington, April 22.—Factional strife broke out at the session of the nineteenth Continental congress of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. When amendments to the society's constitution relating to the discipline of officers and members, and the question of "states' rights" of the state auxiliaries, were presented to the congress the delegates, aligned in their respective "party" camps, found themselves enmeshed in a parliamentary entanglement. All amendments to the constitution of the society were voted down.

The result of the election was the choice of nine vice presidents general, the majority of whom, it was said, are administration supporters. This leaves one vacancy among the vice presidents general, which will be filled at a second election.

SILVER DOLLAR WOULD GO

House Bill Provides for Clean Paper Money.

Washington, April 22.—Clean money for men and women alike, over the country, is the aim of a bill receiving the serious consideration of the house committee on banking and currency. The bill provides that the government shall pay transportation charges on all soiled bills shipped to Washington, and shall return new money without cost to the person returning the old. Mr. McMoran, Michigan's member of the committee, is inclined to favor the legislation, and probably will help to vote it out of committee. Indeed, the committee, as a whole, from comments made by them, appears to favor the passage of the bill at this session.

The effect of this proposal, if enacted into law, will be farther reaching than is evident on its face. It will mean not only clean money the country over, but also the almost complete elimination of the silver dollar from ordinary business.

BRIDEGROOM IS RECOVERING

"Deathbed" Marriage Promises to Prove a Happy One.

Des Moines, N. D., April 22.—What was believed to have been a deathbed marriage may turn out to be a "happy-ever-after" affair as a result of the change that has come in the physical condition of Hagbardt Halvorson, wedded last week to Miss Minnie Larson.

At the time of the ceremony, Halvorson was ill, and it was feared he would not recover. Arrangements for the wedding were made, Judge Murray of Minot performing the ceremony under peculiar conditions.

Within the past few days Halvorson has gained rapidly, and it is believed he will recover.

Mrs. Nat Goodwin Is Ill.

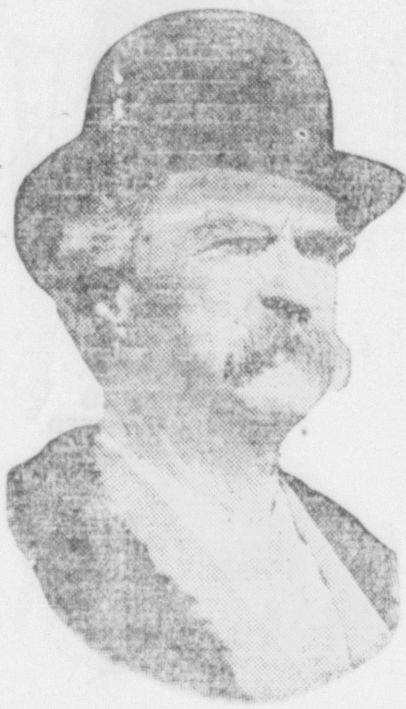

Rochester, Minn., April 22.—Mrs. Nat Goodwin, better known to the theatrical world as Edna Goodrich, and wife of the celebrated actor, is registered at a hotel in this city, and is seeking medical advice of local specialists. Mrs. Goodwin is accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. Goodrich, and her sister, Miss Mabel Goodrich.

Opposes Traffic Agreements.

Washington, April 22.—Traffic agreements consumed the entire time given by the senate to the railroad bill and they were under consideration when the senate adjourned. Senator Cummins held the floor throughout. He spoke against the section permitting such agreements and against the Crawford substitute for it.

ONE CAPTURED AND TWO SURROUNDED

Robbers Fail in Attempt to Loot South Dakota Bank.

Mitchell, S. D., April 22.—Cashier Blatzer of the First State bank of Kaylor, about forty miles south of here in Hutchinson county, on the St. Paul railroad, ambushed and attacked single handed three armed desperadoes in the bank about 2 o'clock in the morning.

One of the men is probably mortally wounded and fell into the hands of the pursuing police. Another, and probably the third, is seriously wounded. The two fugitives have been bayed about four miles from Scotland. A desperate battle is expected.

Kaylor is a small town located between Scotland and Tripp. However, the bank handles a great deal of money and had about $10,000 cash in its vaults, of which the robbers evidently had heard.

The pursuit of the hurried posse who were sent from Scotland after the fugitives, was carried on for several miles before the robbers got away. The gloomy night was lit up by the flashes of revolvers, the desperadoes returning the fire of their pursuers. They evidently had a large supply of ammunition. They took the weapons and ammunition of their wounded companion, who fell into the hands of the police, and is now in jail at Scotland.

The bay of the bloodhounds added to the excitement of the chase through the murky night and farmers from the whole countryside were attracted with their rifles to take part in the headlong chase.

There were three men in the party. When they made an effort to get into the bank building they were surprised by the cashier, who saw their approach and divined their intention.

When the robbers broke the lock on the door the cashier opened fire on them and they made no further attempt to get into the bank. The cashier's aim was good, for he hit one of the men.

Blood was found on the sidewalk in front of the bank. The few people in the town were aroused by the shooting, but when they reached the scene the men had made their escape.

DULUTH WOMAN IS KILLED

Run Down at Street Crossing by Fast Automobile.

Duluth, April 22.—Mrs. Francis Monroe, seventy years old, was run down and killed by a speeding automobile in this city. The car was driven by Herbert Helmer. It was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Black, who had hired it for the purpose of taking a ride. The car was going at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, bystanders say, when it approached the crossing. The chauffeur saw Mrs. Monroe and tooted his horn sharply. She was apparently getting out of the way all right and suddenly seemed to take fright and became confused. She was seen to start back, stopping directly in the path of the machine.

The driver kept on for nearly two blocks after the woman was struck, when the occupants got out and summoned an ambulance.

Mrs. Monroe was instantly killed. The driver of the machine, a young man, is under arrest.

Woman Must Stand Trial.

Deadwood, S. D., April 22.—Information charging murder will be filed against Jeannette Todd, the colored woman who Wednesday shot her husband, Jerry, here, following a quarrel, despite the fact that Todd before he died requested the woman be turned loose.

Thirty to the Square Mile.

As nearly as can be estimated there are thirty inhabitants to the square mile on this globe.

TAFT MIGHT BE INDUCED TO RUN

Would Take Renomination If Asked to by Party.

ATTITUDE OF THE PRESIDENT

If at the End of His First Term the Republican Party Feels Like Calling Upon Him Again He Will Accept, Even if It Is Apparent That He Will Go Down to Defeat—Intends to Stand by Ballinger.

Washington, April 22.—There has been a lot of speculation recently as to President Taft's present frame of mind in regard to another term in the White House. In some quarters the president has been represented as so thoroughly tired of the criticism and abuse that has been heaped upon him and his administration that he now feels like declining to allow the use of his name in regard to a renomination.

The reports have put Mr. Taft in the attitude of deserting his friends and running away from the situation confronting the Republican party. Nothing could be farther from the truth. It can be said that Mr. Taft has no disposition to shrink from the responsibility of his administration and that he will not hesitate to stand for renomination if the party calls him.

What President Taft will not do, so his close friends declare, is to resort to well known political expedients to strengthen his own position and obtain a renomination. His present attitude is described hardly as one of indifference, but he is determined, it is understood, to go ahead and run his administration as he deems best for the country, regardless of its effect on his political future.

Attitude of President Taft.

Republican leaders who have talked with him recently on this subject say his attitude is practically this: If at the end of his first term the Republican party feels like calling upon him again, even if it is apparent that he is to go down to defeat, he will accept, and if it does not he will retire, it is said, with the satisfaction of knowing that he has done what he believes to be best.

President Taft's intention to run his administration regardless of criticism is found by his friends in his fixed determination to stand by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger as long as Mr. Ballinger desires to remain in his cabinet. It is said that the president has received letters from friends in many parts of the country urging him to drop Mr. Ballinger, not that these friends believe Mr. Ballinger has done anything that would warrant such an action, but merely because he may be a dead weight to the Taft administration. To advice of this sort the president, it is understood, has sent the sternest kind of replies, declaring in effect that under no circumstances will he desert Mr. Ballinger.

BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE

Dairymen and Butter Producers Have Their Innings.

Washington, April 22.—The dairymen and butter producers had their innings in the hearing before the house committee on agriculture on the various bills proposing the repeal of the tax on oleomargarine.

Representative Tawney of Minnesota appeared at the head of the delegation of dairymen and butter makers who were present to protest against the repeal or amendment of the present anti-oleomargarine act.

The most important development of the day was the charge made in the conduct of the hearings. The committee had mapped out a programme that provided that those who opposed a change in the existing law and those who wanted it repealed or amended should be heard on alternate days.

At the instance of the dairymen Representative Tawney protested against this procedure. The dairymen wanted an opportunity to present their side of the case without interruption. Mr. Tawney said:

The committee accordingly adopted a resolution fixing April 29 and 30 as dates for a hearing of the oleo interests and May 11, 12 and 13 for a hearing of the butter interests. On May 16 both sides will close their argument. At a meeting of the dairymen and butter makers Mr. Tawney was designated to make the closing argument of those who are opposing the change in the existing law.

Child Killed by a Train.

St. Paul, April 22.—While playing with his dog in the Chicago Great Western yards little Willie Gribble, four years old, started to crawl under a freight train standing near the Robert street bridge. Unseen by the trainmen the train passed over the child's right leg, severing it at the hip, and cutting off his left foot. The boy died on the way to the hospital.

Injuries Cause Death.

Veblen, S. D., April 22.—While working on his well drilling rig near here, Wesley Millard was struck by a falling piece of machinery and received hurts which caused his death.

EDDIE FAY.

Pleads Guilty and Goes to Prison for Ten Years.

FAY AND HARRIS GUILTY

Postoffice Robbers Go to Prison for Ten Years.

Richmond, Va., April 22.—Pleading guilty to the robbery of the Richmond postoffice on the night of March 27, when $65,000 was taken, Eddie Fay and "Little Dick" Harris were sentenced to ten years in the Atlanta penitentiary and fined $5,000 each.

DEVELOPMENTS MAY BE SENSATIONAL

Prosecutor Looks for Disclosures in Hyde Case.

Kansas City, April 22.—Rigorous investigation of the disappearance of the state's documentary evidence in the Hyde murder case, which fell into the hands of the defendant's counsel, was ordered by Prosecutor Virgil Conkling. New developments in the case, the most important of which was the statement of Ruby B. Garrett, the man who lost the papers, that he did not drop them at the point where they are said to have been found, moved the prosecutors to renewed action.

"I am far from satisfied that these papers were lost," said Mr. Conkling. "Neither do I want to say that they were stolen, but I have several men assisting me in investigating the matter and some sensational developments are likely to result."

Miss Pearl Keller, the nurse, was the only witness at the trial. She completed her direct testimony at the end of the morning session. Attorney Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Dr. Hyde, cross-examined her in the afternoon. Attorney Walsh was unable to shake her testimony, except in regard to a few minor details.

Miss Keller was allowed to tell of the typhoid epidemic in the Swope residence. The court permitted the jury to hear the testimony, but promised to order it stricken out if later developments prove it irrelevant to the death of Colonel Swope.

The most important feature of her testimony was that Miss Margaret Swope's symptoms on the morning Dr. Hyde is said to have poisoned her were similar to those of Colonel Swope just before he died.

REVENGE FOR LOSS OF COW

Three Farmers Arrested for Attempting to Wreck Trains.

Aberdeen, S. D., April 22.—August Bauer, Chris Baumgartner and Christopher Wallerine, farmers living near Roscoe, are under arrest charged with attempting to wreck Milwaukee passenger trains. They admit their guilt, saying a train killed a cow owned by one of them, who failed to secure redress for the loss. Their arrest followed a third attempt to wreck a train within a few days. Wallerine is accused as an accomplice, he having held the horses of the other two men while they piled ties on the track. Bauer is married and has five children. The other men are single.

Costly Fire at Dubuque.

Dubuque, Ia., April 22.—Fire in the Standard Lumber company's yards caused a loss of $80,000. This is the third fire in those yards in ten days, all supposed to be of incendiary origin. The second fire caused a loss of $90,000.

Kaufman Beats O'Brien.

Pittsburg, April 22.—Al Kaufman of San Francisco and Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia, heavyweights, fought a six-round bout at Duquesne gardens, with the popular decision apparently in the Westerner's favor.

Child Drowned in Well.

Miles City, Mont., April 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Farnum arrived here, bringing the body of their daughter Mary, fourteen months old, drowned in a well at a ranch eight miles south of Shirley.

COMMISSIONERS END THEIR APPRAISEMENT

BANQUET A SUCCESS

Deerwood Woodmen of the World Held Interesting Session Followed by Banquet

Deerwood, Minn.—One of the master-social and fraternal functions ever attempted and accomplished in Deerwood and surrounding country, occupied parts of two days, April 20-21, and ended a very festa, the Woodmen of the World, under the magnetic leadership of District Manager Chas. A. Key, of St. Peter, Minn., having literally captured the town and country for the Woodmen of the World. Large camps have been organized and the aggressive campaign for new members will be continued. The first annual banquet and outing were the splendid climax is Mr. Key's excellent work.

To make the event perfect, General John W. Gieger, state manager for the W. O. W. in Minnesota, Iowa, and the Dakotas, was guest of honor and official chief. The writer, Dr. G. H. Schleh, Sovereign lecturer and chaplain of the order, came with General Gieger.

The committee of entertainment, Dr. R. J. Sewall, E. W. James and F. E. Oberg, and many sovereigns met the guests from afar at the railroad station and accompanied them on a most delightful launch ride on beautiful Serpentine lake. (The adjective applies to the lake, not to the snake.) Throwing out water was equalled by an automobile ride in the good doctor's powerful machine. The evening program began with a session of the camp in its comfortable Forest. At this meeting the complete order of business was strictly followed, district manager Key occupying the consul commander's chair. A class of candidates was elected and adopted and other business transacted.

General Gieger received an oration and gave an address that was an oratorical masterpiece. He is surely equal to any platform speaker in the United States. The writer also spoke.

After each man had spoken his "promise and vow" at the altar-stump, we marched to the excellent hostelry, Deerwood hotel, to banquet. Dr. Sewall was toastmaster to the delight of us all. He spoke on "Our Camp, Past, Present and Future." Songs by Chas. A. Key and W. R. Rogers were enjoyed immensely. Elocutionary readings and Dramatizations by several including Doctor Sewall, were revelations of education and talent. The Sovereign lecturer gave a five minute talk on "Our Obligation." The event of the evening was the "After Dinner Speech" by State Manager Gieger. Then the song by the Range Camp Quartette, and last of all, the dearest, sweetest, loveliest song of perfect woodcraft, "Nearer My God to Thee," and "Good Night."

May the song, a prayer, be made true in the lift of each member of Range Camp W. O. W., as noble a lot of men as I ever met.

Did I omit the menu? Sufficient to affirm that Delmonico's, of New York, would blush with envy and shame, if brought to painful contrast with the "Bill-of-Fare" at the First Annual banquet of Range Camp W. O. W. at Deerwood, Minnesota.

Respectfully,
G. H. SCHLEH,
Sovereign Lecturer W. O. W.

Bids Wanted

Scaled bids will be received by the undersigned up to 3 p. m., Thursday, the 28th day of April, 1910, for the following work:

Cleaning brick of lime from ruins of Columbian block and piling up in said basement, per thousand.

Cleaning out said basement and areas and making disposition of refuse, piling all the iron work neatly as directed, on Sixth street or alley.

Excavation of rear of said lots and of the two south lots adjoining, as per plans, per cubic yard.

We reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

His Mission.

It was in the surgeon's reception room, and the little man near the door who had been waiting for a half hour or more began to get fidgety.

"I can't wait here all day," he growled.

"Waiting for an operation?" the man next to him sympathetically inquired.

"No," snapped the little man; "I'm waiting to perform one."

The other man stared at him.

"Are you a surgeon?" he asked.

"No," replied the little man. "I'm a bill collector."—New York Journal.

Damages to Overflowed Lands Assessed

FOUR MEN ARE HEARD

Report of Awards Will be Made Known as Soon as Same Can be Prepared by Government Attorney and Signed by the Commissioners—Only Few Hundred Acres are Involved.

The commissioners appointed by the United States to assess the damages to property needed for overflow purposes for the construction of the Gull Lake dam project completed their work late yesterday. The commission consists of Judge W. D. Edson, of Duluth, Michael Toole, of Cass Lake, and Ezra R. Smith, of Brainerd. They met and organized on Monday and spent three days in going to, viewing the lands and returning here. Yesterday was devoted to hearing parties who wished to appear before them in the matter. Those heard were Parker Walte, who lives at the foot of the lake, I. U. White, of this city, A. D. Polk, also of Brainerd and a non resident property owner named A. R. Zineck. The data upon which the report will be based was turned over to Mr. Dickey, of the United States District Attorney's office, who was present, and the report will be made public as soon as it can be drawn by the attorney and signed by the board of commissioners.

May Adopt Yaqui Boy.

Dr. M. S. Schulz of Long Beach, Cal., recently took legal steps to acquire another member for his "international" family by making application for permission to adopt Ramon Palamoris, a Yaqui Indian boy, eighteen months old. Dr. Schulz, who is a Russian, has two children of his own. He has adopted a Korean and a mulatto and is casting about for infants of other races and color to add to his family. He believes that racial difference can be eradicated by providing a proper environment for the children. The Yaqui boy is the son of an insurgent chief in Sonora, his mother having been captured by Mexican soldiers.

New Smokeless Powder.

A new and, as is claimed, more effective smokeless powder than any yet known has been invented by M. Guichard, a photographer, at Lons le Saunier, in France, the shooting club of which has been making some interesting experiments with it on the Montali ground. The target consisted of a block of very hard wood nearly thirty-one inches in thickness. The president of the club began by sending a Lebel bullet into the target, which showed a penetration of close on twenty-five inches, and then he employed a cartridge invented by M. Guichard, which is identical with the Lebel, the penetration in this case being upward of twenty-nine and one-half inches.

Woodchopping a Sport in Australia.

Woodchopping as a sport seems to be becoming popular in Australia. At New South Wales recently the Royal Woodchopping, Sawing and Axmen's association held a series of contests in the presence of a big crowd. The Castle Hill Show handicap called for an underhand chop, the logs being fifteen inches in diameter. In this there were fourteen competitors, three divided into two heats of seven men each. The winner, with five seconds' handicap, defeated the second man by one chop in 1 minute 30 1/2 seconds. In a double hand sawing handicap, white gum logs, fifteen inches in diameter, the winners had a close finish in 24 seconds.

The Sound Sleep of Good Health

The restorative power of sound sleep can not be over estimated and any ailment that prevents it is a menace to health. J. L. Southern, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "For a long time I have been unable to sleep soundly at night, because of pains across my back and soreness of my kidneys. My appetite was very poor and my general condition was much run down. I have been taking Foley's Kidney Pills but a short time and now sleep as sound as a rock. I eat and enjoy my meals, and my general condition is greatly improved. I can honestly recommend Foley's Kidney Pills as I know they have cured me." mwf shown a marked interest in the work is in favor of this locality and the officials of the league are on record in that direction.

If Congressman Tawney has any idea that he will be defeated for re-election from the First district this fall he certainly has not disclosed the same by his actions. Tawney has always been a fighter and the habit has become a fixture with him. This may be the fight of his life and the people of his district can rest assured that he will make it an interesting one. No one ever knew Tawney to lay down in the traces.

Canada has gotten its stream of farmers to go to the northwest country by consistent and persistent advertising. If the same course had been pursued by the railroads in the agricultural regions of the United States which presented ten times the advantage to new settlers that Canada does hundreds of thousands of dollars and thousands of families would have been saved to this country. Many of them return, but in poorer circumstances than when they left.

St. Paul evidently is not getting quite all of the country trade and in order to correct the balance the merchants of that city are banded together in offering railroad transportation and expenses to prospective purchasers. As an inducement we soon expect to see the large cities, who owe their prosperity to the country, not only offer all expenses to out-of town customers but to include theatre tickets, automobile rides and trading stamps. Prospective country customers should ascertain if the additional expense is added to the purchase price of goods.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press says the Dispatch fears the cold wave has destroyed the blueberry crop of Northern Minnesota, and that is another reason for feeling blue. Nobody feels blue up this way, Bro. Eastman, in fact the sky never looked brighter. Brainerd will see more building this year than ever in the history of the city;
 Crow Wing county is experiencing a period of prosperity and you can feel it in the air; the iron industry of this region is bound to make it one of the richest sections in the country.
 No chance to feel blue up here, it's all a bright, rosy red—and not the painted kind, either. Come up to a good town, Mr. Journal-Press and shake that drowsy feeling off.

Again we find it necessary to revise our list, as pretty much of everything, especially on the "north side," has been sold, except "OUR HAPPY HOME." This we propose to keep, and expect to live and die in BRAINERD.
 In 1881 we cast our lot here in BRAINERD and, while we have seen many
 "ups and downs," we have never lost faith in BRAINERD and CROW WING COUNTY, and the prospects never looked brighter than it does at this time, and we still maintain that a DEED TO A HOME IN BRAINERD is worth more than a bushel of RENT RECEIPTS. If you want to buy city

ARE DISMANTLING OLD EXCHANGE

Employees of the Northwestern Telephone Exchange Company at that That Work

SAUK CENTER GETS EXCHANGE

Ed. Miller Went There Today to Superintend Unloading Carload of Telephone Cable

The construction crew of the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company, which recently completed the work of erecting the new exchange is now busily engaged in the work of removing the old exchange. Mr. Edward Miller, the foreman in charge estimates that it will take about three weeks to remove all the vestiges of the old exchange. Two teams with crews of men commenced removing the old instruments Thursday morning and took them out at the rate of about 125 per day.

Mr. Miller left this afternoon for Sauk Center to unload a car of cable for the company which is to be used in the improvement of the telephone exchange at that place. He hopes to complete the task so as to return to this city tomorrow.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and is made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle.

FIRST ENUMERATOR TO FINISH

Arthur T. Anderson Reports Completion of His Work in N. E. Brainerd

Arthur T. Anderson, of 820 Fourth Ave., N. E. Brainerd, is the first census enumerator to report the completion of his work. Your reporter is not aware of any other enumerator who has finished work and so is willing to concede to Mr. Anderson the record for doing his share in the compilation of the great United States census in just five and one-half days.

His district embraced the north half of the third ward. He encountered few difficulties and only found it necessary to speak Norwegian on two occasions. These were new arrivals in Brainerd, who had just come from the old country.

Sabbath Observance Day

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of America, have set aside one Sabbath in April which is known as Sabbath Observance Day. This has become an important part of their work. The women request the pastors of the various churches to speak upon this subject and cooperate with them in bringing about a better order of things on the Sabbath day. Many of the Brainerd pastors will respond to the request of the ladies and deliver a sermon this coming Sunday on Sabbath Observance. Mrs. J. M. Schulz, of Northeast Brainerd, is the district superintendent of this department.

Younggren-O'Connor

Thursday afternoon, April 21, 1910, John Albert Younggren and Miss Marie Eunice O'Connor were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna B. O'Connor, 224 North Ninth street, Rev. Father O'Mahoney officiating. Miss O'Connor is the youngest daughter of Mrs. O'Connor, and was born and raised in our city and has been a stenographer at Duluth. The groom is head bookkeeper of the Crookston Lumber Co. at Bemidji.

The dress of the bride was of cream satin, trimmed with Irish lace, the bodice having cut steel trimmings. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Jessie Conliff, of Duluth, who was the bridesmaid, was attired in pink silk and carried pink roses. John O'Connor, the bride's brother, was best man.

The house decorations were beautiful, the front parlor being decorated in white, dining room in red and back parlor in pink, with potted plants and palms tastefully arranged. A splendid supper was served at seven and a reception was held at nine to which friends and relatives were invited.

The presents, including silver and cut glass, were many and varied. Among the out of town visitors was Mrs. Fred Brinkman, of Bemidji, a sister of the bride's mother. The happy couple left on the early morning train for Minneapolis where they will visit the parents of the groom. They will be at home in Bemidji June 1st.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"Patrick's Family Affair"

The comedy, "Patrick's Family Affair," presented at the opera house last night by the young people of Aitkin for the benefit of St. James Catholic church, of Aitkin, was a meritorious performance and the ability shown by these amateurs was equal to that of many a professional. J. B. O'Fallon, as Sam Gordon, the good fellow, who gets into any number of pseudo-matrimonial alliances and borrows three editions of babies from the neighborhood, is excellently portrayed. Matt Kenny, as Patrick Johnson, is a good bit of comic acting and he does his best when he poses as Mrs. Gordon. Deacon Smith, represented by John N. Then, is well portrayed. His best work was done when he was confronted by three successive Mrs. Gordons. Marie Vachon was sweet and charming, so naive and pretty, that many a young man, wished his name was O'Fallon and that he had such a dear little heroine to hold his coat lapel, look into his eyes kiss him and quarrel with him in such an adorable manner. The writer does not want to get too extravagant with his adjectives but he must admit that her acting reminded him a good deal of Maude Adams. The part of the lone housekeeper so anxious to be married is well presented by Louise Taylor. Her make-up was especially good. Mrs. E. P. Duffy took the part of Louisiana Johnson and the way she came down the war path was a caution. Her costume was excellent and her jewelry, which included a 250 carat diamond was the heaviest lay out of diamonds any actress every carried. Master Hubert Small was the four year old son and introduced quite a little comedy work, upsetting furniture, turning somersaults on the carpet and doing other innocent, little tricks of happy childhood.

Between the acts music was furnished by Lowrey's orchestra, which embraced two first violins, cornet, piano and trombone. Their music was excellent. In view of the fact that our Bachelor Maids played to good houses in Aitkin it was hoped that Brainerd would reciprocate and give them the patronage which they surely deserved.

ANSWER

One—the flat, sad, sickly looking one—was baked with poor baking powder; possibly the high price kind—possibly the cheap, big can kind. It denotes a lack of leavening gas, or an uneven distribution of same—or both. The other—the large, light, fluffy one—was prepared with Calumet Baking Powder, and denotes the never-failing, delicious baking that always results from its use.

Calumet does not cost as much as the high price baking powder, but it is very much superior in every way—it is purer—more reliable—more healthful. Here are the reasons:

All baking powders undergo a chemical change in the process of baking. You do not take it into the stomach in the same form as it is in the can. For example: When you use Cream of Tartar Baking Powder you get Rochelle Salts in your food, because the Cream of Tartar during this reaction turns into Rochelle Salts. This, as you know, is a drug, and should be taken only under doctor's orders.

Calumet is so carefully and scientifically prepared, that the neutralization of the ingredients is absolutely perfect.

That it is absolutely pure and of highest quality is proven by the fact that "When I went around to the pie and coffee man with my seventy-five he laughed and told me to brush by. His sales had jumped ten pies a day, and he had put his price up to an even hundred. For about five minutes things looked to me as the wash does when they get too much bluing in the tub. Then I braced up and squandered 50 cents on the first real feed I'd had for a year.

"After that it was sunrise again. I drifted into a place where they were selling dollar options on July wheat, and the first thing I knew I was plunging like a porpoise. Inside of two hours I had almost $300 in my pocket, and I knew how a Rothschild feels. I went back to the stand, shook my roll at the pie butcher and did a lot of other fool things, all meant to show the folks that I was it.

"Next day I hunted up a regular broker and began to speculate, nice and proper, on margins. I hadn't been at that more than a week before I hit the market right, and I've been hitting it ever since, except when it's hit me. Oh, yes, it hits back now and then, just to show me."

He ended his story abruptly. "What's that, Eppings? Did you say supper? Good! Come on, folks; let's see what the cook has found in the icebox."

Probably the Wilburs and the Miller-Tremways had never been summoned to dine in just that fashion before. Perhaps the novelty pleased them, for they were in high good humor. They told each other that Mr. Devine was delightfully original.

In spite of Eppings' fears it was a very good supper, but Mr. Devine took no note of it. He was thinking about the countess.

It was toward the close of the affair that the bishop took Mr. Devine one side and asked, "Do you know what has become of the Hewingtons?" "Sure!" said the cherub. "They're all upstairs in retreat."

"In retreat! What do you mean, Devine?"

"It's because of me, you know. They don't approve of me. Mr. Hewington's writing a book about my wicked ways—gets his material from the newspapers. I'll be a thick book, I guess."

"Now, if that isn't just like De Courcy!" exclaimed the bishop. "Splendid fellow, though, in his way."

"So I've heard."

"If you don't mind, Devine, I'll run up and see him for a few minutes before I go."

"Oh, help yourself. They're somewhere on the top floor behind a barricade."

"I'll bring him out of that," said the bishop. But he had not reckoned on the full strength of Mr. Hewington's prejudice.

"It's not on my account, my dear bishop," said Mr. Hewington, "but I must guard my daughter from such association."

"Nonsense, De Courcy! Devine lacks polish, perhaps, but at heart he is an honest chap. Come down and meet him and bring Adele."

"No, no; I couldn't think of it," firmly responded Mr. Hewington. "We shall remain here until he goes away."

So the bishop went back alone.

When it was over, when the last of them had gone, Mr. Cherub Devine, groping about for some fitting term to express the situation, remarked enigmatically:

"That's what I call playing a four flush against a full house. Guess I'll take another stack, though."

Which meant that the audacious soul of Mr. Devine was humbled, but not crushed.

He had tried to demonstrate to Mr. Hewington that his estimate of Cherub Devine as one of the socially unfit was a mistaken judgment. But evidently he had demonstrated nothing of the kind. The Hewingtons had given him no chance to show what he could do in that line. Well, should he quit then? Mr. Devine allowed himself to smile grimly. Almost any one in Wall street could have told you what that meant.

CHAPTER VI.

THE big rooms at Hewington Acres were empty and very still long before midnight, but the cherub continued to sit in the library, smoking and meditating. He had a trick when watching an unsteady market of tearing pieces of paper into small bits and throwing them away. He was doing this now, and the eastern rug under his feet looked as if it had been visited by a stage snowstorm. He was aroused by an odd noise. It sounded as if some one was dragging a heavy object down the stairs.

Looking out through the door hangings, he could see the lower half of the staircase. For a moment he waited, and then there appeared the Countess Veechi, tugging at a dress suit case which was evidently well filled. She was dressed as if for the street, with a light silk dust coat over her black gown and a jaunty straw hat on her head. When she saw the cherub she seemed startled and shrank back guiltily.

"Oh," she exclaimed, "I did not expect to find you here. I am going away."

"Are you? Do you generally start alone in the middle of the night?" The cherub had walked out into the hall.

"I—I don't care to talk to you about it, Mr. Devine. I am going away, I tell you." Her brown eyes looked as if they might fill with tears at any moment.

"All right, all right," he said soothingly. "You needn't talk about it."

The Countess Veechi allowed the suit case to slide to the floor, and then she faced him resolutely.

"Mr. Devine, I have found out all about you."

"Me?"

"Yes, I know why you are here."

"Good! You know a blamed sight more than I do then."

"It is useless for you to try to keep up the deceit any longer, Mr. Devine. My father has confessed the whole wretched story. I told me at first that you were merely here on some law business, but when I heard that you were entertaining your friends here, just as you would in your own house, I demanded to be told the truth. And now I know. Oh, I know it all! This is your house. You own it! Somehow or other you have tricked my poor father out of it, and now our beautiful home is yours. Dare you deny it? Come! Isn't it so?"

ideas and temperament which appeal to European opinion.

"Few are more worthy of the esteem of the democracy, for he represents at the same time liberty and authority—those two antitheses which Republicans, conscious of their duty and solicitude of the future, are everywhere trying to harness together."

The sentiment of Parisians generally is shown in the abundant display of American flags and bunting on private residences, shops and public buildings. Colonel Roosevelt slipped away for two hours to pay visits to ex-President Loubet and the sister of the late Edward Simmons, the American artist, for whose work the former president had a high regard.

Thousands of Parisians Turn Out to Greet Him.

WELCOME IS ENTHUSIASTIC

No Reigning Sovereign Ever Given a More Cordial Reception Than That Accorded the Distinguished American—Police Have Troubled Restraining Crowd at Station—Honor the Man, Not the Office.

Paris, April 22.—No reigning sovereign ever received a more enthusiastic welcome to Paris than did Theodore Roosevelt, the former president of the United States. He reached here at 7:30 o'clock in the morning and was greeted by the representatives of the president of the republic and the cabinet, American Ambassador Bacon, M. Jussarand, the French ambassador at Washington, and a great concourse of people, which the cordon of troops surrounding the railway station had difficulty in holding in check.

After luncheon at the American embassy, Colonel Roosevelt called upon President Fallieres and Foreign Minister Pinchon, who immediately afterwards paid return visits to the embassy.

In the evening Mr. Roosevelt was given an ovation at the Comedie Francaise, where he made his first real public appearance in Paris, occupying the presidential box.

When Colonel Roosevelt entered the theater between acts, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel, Kermit and Ambassador and Mrs. Bacon, the house literally rose to its feet, volleys of applause bursting from the boxes, pit and galleries. For a full minute the colonel made no response, but as the demonstration continued he came forward and bowed his acknowledgments. The bill was Sophocles' Greek tragedy, "Oedipus Rex," and Mr. Roosevelt seemed to enjoy it hugely, joining with the audience in the applause.

Greeted Like Royalty.

At the end of each act, when Mounet-Sully, who played the title role, and the other performers responded, they advanced as customary when royalty is present, bowing profoundly in the direction of the former president before turning to the audience. This seemed only to give additional pleasure to the audience, which in turn each time gave a fresh round of applause for Mr. Roosevelt.

During one of the intermissions Jules Claretie, director of the theater, conducted the party through the magnificent foyer, pointing out the statues, portraits and relics of actors and authors connected with the history of the famous house. As the party left the building, at the close of the performance, rounds of cheers were given by the crowds outside.

The Temps fairly reflects the tone of the entire French press, declaring that Roosevelt's tour of Europe is unparalleled in history.

"No democratic chief of state," says the paper, "ever before enjoyed such popular visits of kings and presidents, but Roosevelt is no longer president. It is the man, therefore, not the office, his personality, his character,

Dress Waistcoats Gaudy Now.
The very newest thing in men's evening wear is a dress waistcoat of colored cloth, worn with the ordinary black dress suit. These waistcoats are made of cashmere, which is a faced cloth of exceptionally fine weave, and are created in art shades of brown, blue, mauve or yellow. One prominent New York tailor has just completed an order for one of these waistcoats, cut V shaped, as the bow shaped garments have been pronounced hopelessly out of date. In a pale pink cloth, and though it is single-breasted, seven tiny silver buttons are required to fasten it. Light shades of fawn and pale lemon also are said to be popular colors for waistcoats.
